CALDWELL CLAIMS $150,000.

He Sues the Mutual Seserve Fun-Life Insurance Company. Dumont H. Caldwell has begun an ac tion in the Supreme Court against the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Insurance Company for an accounting, claiming that $150,000 is due him under a contract with the Company.

The plaintiff alleges that in 1887 he entered into an agreement with the defendants to open up and conduct its business in England, and that he was to receive a commission on the business done in his territory.

The insurance company admits a contract with the plaintiff, and puts the terms of the contract in issue. It is claimed that no accounting can be had until the questions of fact, regarding the contract have been decided by a jury. Justice Andrews reserved decision. Mutual Reserve Fund Life Insurance popular since the unfortunate experience of Street-Cleaning Commissioner Andrews, following that of Civil Justice George F. Roesch, afforded an illustration of the fate which might await those who are too anxious to contradict the testimony of the Committee's witnesses. Capt. Schmittberger, though still unable to leave his house, was reported to be greatly improved this morning. In the statement which he made last night in reply to the charges of Emma Charles, that he extorted from her every cent she made while she was running the "House of All Nations," he says he was not in command of the precinct at the time mentioned. As soon as he did take charge, he says he immediately closed up the place she was then running, the house known as the "Recherche," thereby incurring the ill-will of a high police official, who was interested in protecting the place.

Many Applicants for Goff a Flace.

Although Mr. Goff has not made any definite statement of his plans for the future, it is generally understood that he will retire as counsel for the Committee at the close of the present week. Who will be his successor is yet a mystery. One of the members of the Committee has stated that there have been more than one hundred applicants for the place, but no selection has yet been made, and will not be until after the first of the year.

Reilly's Head Cut Either by His Wife or Her Friend.

Albert Schenk, a hostler, of 334 East Forty-ninth street, was held for trial in the Yorkville Court to-day, charged with assaulting Farrell Reilly.

Yesterday Reilly went out and did not return until 3 o'clock this morning.

All Is Harmony, Says Jerome.

All In Harmony, Says Jerome. William Travers Jerome, however, was found, and although he declined to discuss the plans for the future hearings of the Committee, he stated very positively that there had been no misunderstanding or friction between the counsel, but that the most cordial relations still existed.

"So far as I know there was no differ-"So far as I know there was no difference of opinion between them, but I am not at liberty to say anything regarding future witnesses, so you must excuse me if I decline to answer questions upon that point."

Mr. Mosa confirmed the statement of Mr. Jerome that there had been no strained relations between the counsel of the Committee over the examination of Supt. Byrnes, but he declined to say anything with regard to the position which had been taken by certain members of the Committee upon this point.

Question Closely, Says Moss.

He reiterates that it is his opinion that the Superintendent should be called to the witness stand and examined as closely as any other official, in regard to his administration of the affairs of the Police Department, and that any disposition shown to let him off easy would be vigorously opposed by him.

Upon this point he said he held the same views as Dr. Parkhurst, whose statements had been clear and positive. Any favor shown to him, should he go upon the witness-stand, would undoubtedly be construed by the public as an attempt upon the part of the Committee to place the stamp of its approval upon the official character and career of the Superintendent, and would create intense dissatisfaction.

From all the information that could be gathered this meaning it was evident that the calling of the Superintendent as a witness before the close of the sessions oad been definitely decided upon, but in the absence of Mr. Goff and Senator rexw, who was also out of town today, an authoritative statement upon this point could not be obtained. Question Closely, Says Moss.

KERWIN IS ANGRY.

Any Deal with Platt. Police Commissioner Kerwin was cor

siderably agitated this morning over the insimuations in several morning news-papers that his object in desiring to bring policemen implicated before the Lexow Committee to immediate account was to intimidate others from making a confession of their part in or knowledge of corruption in the Department.

"I still adhere," he said, "to the stand outlined in my interview published in The Evening World" on Saturday. My position and the object sought was clearly and anceincity explained in that interview, and I cannot see that there is anything more to add. But the hisimuation that Mr. Platt has dictated or even suggested the course I would pursue in this matter is a malicious falsehood.

"The truth is, I have not seen Mr. Platt for more than a week, and then only for a few moments. There was nothing said at that meeting by either of us concerning the Senate Committee a investigation or the probable action of the Police Hoard in relation to the evidence adduced. I wish it to be thoroughly understood that I have no issue with the Lexow Committee.

For corporate schools, such as those of the Children's Aid Society, $137,000 was allowed, an increase of some $13,000. For supplies the sum of $230,000 was allowed, as against $186,700 for 1894. The Board asked for nearly $229,000, and Commissioner Moriarty, Chairman of the Committee on Supplies, made an carnest plea for that amount.

The Mayor observed that J. Augustus Johnson, President of the Council of Good Government Clubs, was present, and very uneasy, and called on him for any suggestions. Mr. Johnson assured the Mayor that it was not the Board of Education merely, but the people, who demanded this increase.

The Mayor wished to know something about Mr. Johnson's credentisis, as a representative of the people, and said:

Jacob A. Riis.

The Mayor thought the Commissioner better authority than Mr. Riis, and he disputed Mr. Johnson's rat story, and no further increase was allowed.

The sum of $150,000 was appropriated for the College of the City of New York, the same as for this year. The Normal College, which got but $125,000 for 1894, had its appropriation increased to $150,000.

The Register's office was also to have been taken up to-day, but no one appeared to represent that office. The meeting rested until a messenger had been sent over to the Hail of Records, and finally Chief Clerk Hanley turned up with the explanation that Register Levy was indisposed and had not come downtown to-day, not thinking it necessary. Mayor Gilroy sald, with the lengy.

"Well, it is very necessary. Register Levy has been making a number of removals lately, doubtless in the interest of reform, and we might fied it desirable to increase his appropriation. We will let the matter go now until Wednesday, when we hope to see the Register.

The Law Enforcement detectives were around with cameras. This morning they had many pictures on exhibition at the office in the Arbuckle Building.

The detectives had much difficulty in catching snap shots of men entering saloons, as nearly everybody before entering side doors was on the lookout.

The detectives, however, caught a number of good pictures, which will not be made public for several days. These pictures show some well-known men going in a side door early in the morning.

Clayton and Corwin were the only men who passed the recent competitive examination in which thirty-five candidates were in the field.

Capt. Clayton joined the force as a patrolman on April 7, 1874; was made roundsman May 23, 1885, and Sergeant Jan. 23, 1886. He was placed in command of the Twenty-fourth Precinct when Coney Island was annexed to the city, the will remain in charge of that precinct. cinct.
Capt. Corwin was appointed April 6, 1874; promoted to be roundsman July 9, 1881; promoted to be roundsman July 9, 1881; Sergeant, Jan. 1, 1882. He has been in charge of the Twenty-fifth Sub-Precinct, but from to-day will command the Twenty-fifth Precinct, at Hay Ridge, No charges have been preferred against either man.
